Annual Student Assembly Corrects 'Freshman Daze'

An attempt to correct "Freshman Daze" was offered Wednesday at the annual assembly for new students in the auditorium.

The 600 freshmen and new students were acquainted with University faculty and personnel. President Milo Bail and Dean of Students Jay B. MacGregor addressed the group and introduced staff and counselors.

Identify Respective Counselors

"The purpose of the assembly," said Dean MacGregor, "was to identify students with the Dean and counselors of their respective colleges. An informal greeting is always best to create better student-faculty cooperation and school spirit."

Following the mass meeting in the auditorium, each student met with his own college. University custom was explained in a manual presented by the library.

Undergraduate Counselors

Special counselors for freshmen and sophomore students are: College of Arts and Sciences, Paul Beck, Hodge Doss, Dr. Robert Harper; College of Applied Arts and Sciences, Miss Margaret Killian, Cheryl Prewett and Sylvester Williams.

Others are College of Education, Miss Hollie Bethel, James E. Brock, James Porterfield and College of Business Administration, Miss Joyce Minter, Charles Bull and William Hockett.

Junior and senior students are expected to be in their major fields and may then be directed to group counselors.

President Names New Appointments

Fall term faculty changes include the appointment of a new reference librarian for 1954-55 by President Milo Bail. He is Daniel P. Teisberg, who holds a master of library science degree from the University of Minnesota. Teisberg received his undergraduate degree from Concordia College, Moorhead, Minnesota, in 1950.

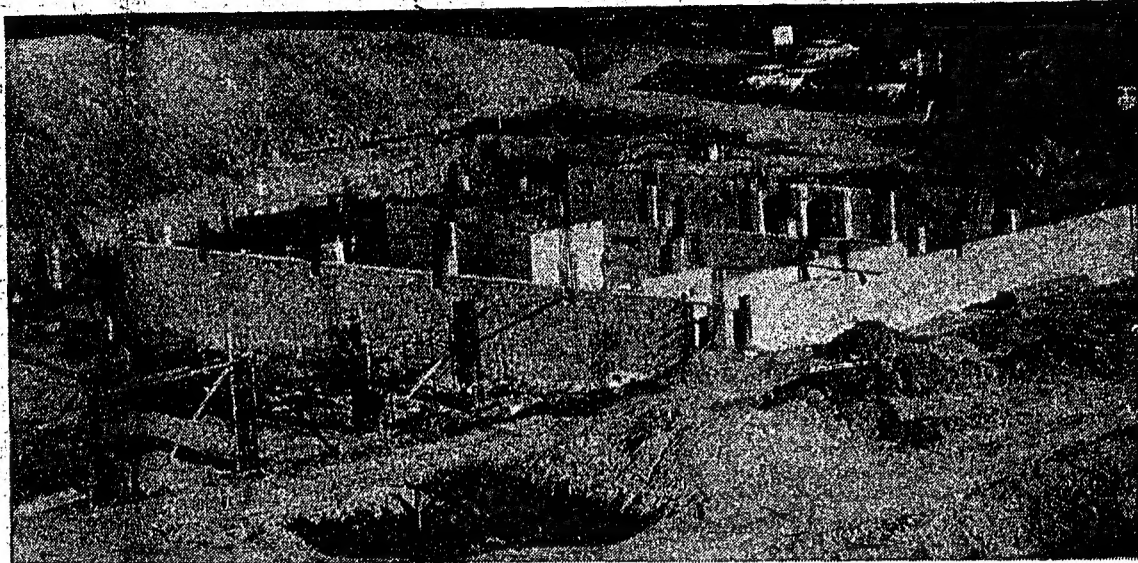

Three OU professors return from leaves of absences this fall. They are Cheryl Prewett, engineering; Francis Hurst, psychology; and James D. Tyson, speech. J. Lee Westrate, assistant professor of history, has resigned to join the Department of the Air Force in the Directorate of Special Investigation.

Other new faculty members for 1954-55 are Miss Kathryn Schaeke, physical education; Oscar Budel, languages; Duane Hill, history; D. N. Marquardt, chemistry; Miss Marilyn Nass, physical education; Grant M. Osborn, insurance; Roderick Peck, associate dean of the College of Adult Education and assistant professor of sociology; Raymond Trenholm, music; and Garlan Wollard, education.

Activity Fee Due

Please pay your student activities fees in the business office immediately, and fill out a card so your name will be in the student directory. Unless you fill out the special student directory card, your name will not appear in the directory. The absolute deadline is Monday, Sept. 27.

OU's plan for the future begins to take shape with the laying of the library foundation.

New Library's Foundation, Footings Near Completion

OU's newest building is beginning to rise above ground.

Basement walls and footings for the new library building will be finished in another two weeks, according to contractor Elliot Gilmore. Work on the cement framework for the first and second floors is expected to start the last of September.

National AAS Office at OU

Three OU students, Duane Post, Larry Peters and Melvin Rousek, accompanied Maj. J. J. Burnett and Lt. John Plantikow to Cincinnati, O. and Washington, D. C. last week to help move the national headquarters of the Arnold Air Society to Omaha University. As a result of this trip, Post, Peters, Rousek, James Dubois, John Cottrell and Chris Crowder have set up the National AAS office in Room 180 of the Administration Building. The above cadets will also serve as the society's national officers.

Also as a result of the trip, a National Executive Secretary's office was established in the capitol city. Lt. Col. John O. Gray, Office of Reserve Forces, was tentatively selected as Executive Secretary.

The cadets also visited members of the Arnold Air Society of the University of Maryland, which will be the 1954-55 liaison branch of the organization.

A plan is underway to authorize USAF flights for members of the Angels' Flight and Sabres, both of whom are affiliated with AAS. Such authorization would give outstanding Angels and Sabres an opportunity to fly to the annual National Conclaves as well as interesting and instructive visits to various USAF installations.

Registrar Reports High Enrollment

If there's safety in numbers, you're safe at OU! Registration figures show that you're one of approximately 3,700 students on the campus for the fall term.

Miss Alice C. Smith, Registrar, said University enrollment, including 600 new students, would perhaps be slightly higher than in 1953.

"More than 150 night classes will be offered especially for Omaha adults," said Dr. Donald Emery, Dean of the College of Adult Education. "We make a special effort to offer courses that will satisfy the most and unusual interests," Dean Emery pointed out.

Construction on the building, which began the last part of June, is two weeks behind schedule due to heavy rains, said Alden Aust, superintendent of buildings and grounds. Ground breaking was held June 8. September 1955 is the date set for completion.

Miss Ellen Lord, head librarian, said all present library operations are being geared to obtain the most efficiency in the new plant. "We keep asking ourselves if this or that system will be the most efficient in the new building," she said.

Central Desk Controls

The latest principles of library service have been incorporated in the new building. It will be an open-shelf library providing free use of all materials with a central circulation desk which has complete control of all books leaving the library.

The first floor will have two large general reading rooms. The east wing will provide a reserve and general study room to seat 140 students. The west wing will house the reference and literature collections seating 75 students. The Audio-Visual department will have offices in the Southeast corner.

The main book collection will be located on the second floor. It also will contain a current document section, a curriculum laboratory for education materials, a library science study and seminar and graduate study facilities.

CAE in New Building

The College of Adult Education will be re-located in the new building. It will be housed in the south wing with an auditorium seating 350 people for workshops, conferences, and lectures. The wing will provide four conference rooms for smaller discussion groups, officers and facilities for Adult Education conferences.

The basement, excavated under the central section only, will provide a large stock room for storage of research materials.

The construction site is located north and west of the Administration Building. It will face Dodge Street, with the main entrance 150 feet south of Dodge. The building will be red brick and white stone, harmonizing with the Georgian-styled Administration Building and Fieldhouse.

Police Question Faculty Member

Dr. Claude C. Thompson, a member of the University of Omaha faculty and director of vocational counseling, was being questioned by police Wednesday in connection with the stabbing of Francis Luther, 38, of 2114 So. 48 street.

Luther was taken to a local hospital early Wednesday morning where he was reported to be in serious condition as a result of seven knife wounds.

Dr. Stanley E. Davis, director of the Reading Improvement Laboratory, was appointed by President Milo Bail to replace Dr. Thompson. Dr. Davis will be assisted in the laboratory by Dr. Francis M. Hurst, who now holds the position of assistant director of the Reading Improvement Laboratory. Both appointments were effective Wednesday.

Dr. Bail: 'Year of Consideration, Planning' For Construction of Student Union Building

University President Milo Bail terms this a "year of consideration and planning" for the eventual building of a Student Center.

One of the five campus additions planned for construction in the next seven to ten years, the Student Center will be built after the Library is completed next September.

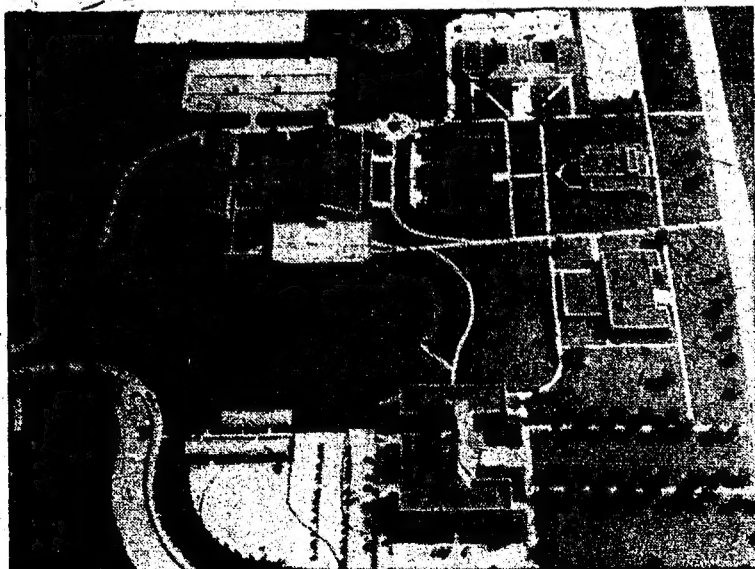

"Like the Library, the Student Center will be paid for by the time it is completed," Dr. Bail said.

It will be paid for from bonds authorized by the legislature.

A committee headed by Glenn Lewis is responsible for planning the building. Preliminary plans were drawn and displayed last year.

Faculty members of the committee include Alden Aust, Harlan Cain, H. H. Davison, Dr. Donald Emery, Charles Hoff, Margaret Killian, Dr. Bruce Linton, Dean Don Pflasterer and Joe Baker, alumni representative.

Student representatives include Gateway Editor-in-Chief and Student Council, Panhellenic, IFC and ISA presidents.

will be the Applied Arts building and the present Fieldhouse. The Fine Arts building is shown in the background. The addition to the Fieldhouse, to the left of that building, will house a gymnasium and swimming pool.

Miss Centennial Winner Plans Musical Education

Why do girls enter beauty contests?

According to Patricia Kavan, 1954 Miss Omaha, she entered to "see how far I could get with my musical ability." Pat sang "Seguedilla" from Bizet's opera, "Carmen," in both the Miss Omaha and Miss Nebraska contests.

Her biggest thrill of the summer, however, was singing with the Omaha Symphony at Waltz Night as part of the concert under the stars series. She was runner-up in a contest held to select the best young vocalist in Omaha.

Early Start

Pat started preparing for the Miss Omaha contest before school was out last year. She didn't tell anyone about it until it appeared in the paper.

After winning the contest, she was named Miss Centennial and will serve in this capacity through the remainder of the year.

Right now Pat's ambition is to finish school. "I feel that it is very important to get an education. After I finish at OU, I want to go to one of the music schools back East," she said. She will receive a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in music in June, 1956.

At present Pat is concentrating on music, dramatics and dance. She feels that "you have to have all three to do one well."

Glad to Know

Has she met a lot of people?

"I was on the Robert Q. Lewis show this summer," Pat recalled, "and met all the members of his cast." She also had her picture taken with Jeffrey Lynn, one of the Broadway stars of "Omaha! Chuck Wagon of the Universe." Asked if she received any offers from the people she met Pat replied that "Norman Frank, CBS director, and James Russo, 'Chuck Wagon' director, told me to see them if I came to New York."

Someday Pat hopes to have a career as a singer and actress, but that is still a long way off for the Omaha U junior lass.

Who Me?

"Count off!"

"One!" "Two!" "Three!"

The ROTC Department you say? No, these sounds are coming from the Dean of Student Personnel Office. The numbering took place after the three Deans became confused at having three girls named Shirley in the same office. So the girls numbered themselves according to seniority Shirley Bryant, one; Shirley Jensen, two; and Shirley Welch, three. They've even alphabetized.

Building Staff Remodels Offices

An internal rejuvenation is apparent inside Omaha U.

After much banging, pounding, sawing and painting not to mention a little something ($&*%) else, the offices of Deans William Thompson, Carl Helmstadter and Frank Gorman have been partitioned off to make room for the increasing administrative staff.

Dr. Thompson is sharing his Liberal Arts College office with Dr. Roy Robbins, Director of the Graduate Division. Dean Helmstadter is now occupying his office with Sylvester Williams, head of the engineering department and director of the Technical Institute. James Porterfield, newly-named director of teacher placement, has his quarters in the back of Dean Gorman's Education College office.

The work was done by members of the Building and Grounds crew. During the operation, the nostrils of all persons coming in contact with the odor of varnish and paint quivered at the Chem Lab (like) smell.

Painting is still going on at night. Arthur Livingston, chief painter, is busy eight hours each night putting a fresh coat of paint on the walls, ceilings, doors and stairways of the University.

OU Students Will 'Light Up'

"Twinkle, twinkle little . . ."

Omaha's skyline will be a blaze of light and color when battery-powered floats move down Omaha streets as part of the Ak-Sar-Ben Electrical Parade, Sept. 22.

The Wednesday night parade, first of its kind since the early part of the century will have 20 floats depicting the history of Omaha.

Battery Powered

In the past the floats were powered by running a line from the float up to the street car wires. But since busses have replaced almost all of the old trolley cars, the floats in this year's parade will be powered by batteries.

Although Omaha University is not having a float in the parade, it will still be well represented. Three dozen past and present members of OU's faculty, staff and student body are working on the parade.

Wacky Writers Baffle Buddies

Journalists are usually considered a rather addle-brained lot. And the group on the OU campus is no exception.

During his summer vacation, Clifford Ellis, acting head of the journalism department, took a trip. He packed his bags, put on a grubby pair of denims and left for New Mexico—minus his suit trousers.

Robert McGranahan, Director of General Printing and Information, and his wife were visiting friends in Cedar Falls, Ia., when they felt a sudden craving for potato salad. During the preparation, Mrs. McGranahan noticed the lack of onions. So, McGranahan grabbed a spade and rushed into the garden in search of the forget-me-nots. Spying what appeared to be the tops of green onions, he thrust the spade into the ground, turned up the plant and rushed back into the house. Their friends' tube roses are not expected to survive the winter.

And Tomahawk Photographer Bill Kratville's face was as red as those roses the day women took their physical exams.

Kratville, late for an appointment downtown, opened the first door he saw on the fourth floor and emerged shortly thereafter amid loud screams from within the room.

'Madame X' Aids Students at OU

During the summer a new loan fund was set up by a woman who "worked all day everyday" to put her daughter through Omaha U.

The woman, who prefers to remain anonymous, stipulated in a letter to the Board of Regents that the money be used to help students "over the hump."

Any student who is deemed eligible may draw up to $50 from the fund to help pay for tuition or board and room. No money is to be spent for dues in any organization. The money must be paid back in the fund by Aug. 6 of the following year to enable "another student to take advantage of the fund," according to her letter.

Meet the Faculty Bavarian Born Instructor To Teach French at OU

Dr. Oscar Budel will teach French at OU this fall. The thirty-one year-old Bavarian received his Ph. D. from the University of Wurezburg.

Although he has not met a lot of students yet, Dr. Budel thinks that the OU campus is much the same as the University of Rome's—"except for the lack of palms and cedars."

Dr. Budel has also studied at the Universities of Berlin, Heidelberg, Frankfurt and Wurezburg.

Recalling his experiences while in school in Germany, Dr. Budel said that the students don't talk in class. "If they like a point that the professor makes in his lecture, they rap their knuckles on the desk. However, if they disagree with what he says, the students shuffle their feet on the floor." "But," he continued, "the students rarely talk in class as they do over here. If they want to ask the professor a question, they meet him after class."

Professors do not have offices as they do at Omaha U either according to Dr. Budel. There is a Budel . . . OU lacks palms and cedars.

"common meeting room" where all the faculty go when not in class. "Usually though," he said, "they go home when they are through lecturing."

Former Star Assumes Roll As Cage Aide

A twenty-nine year old former Omaha University basketball star has been appointed assistant basketball coach for the forthcoming cage season as the number one aide to his former coach.

Ralph Pettit, 1953 graduate of the University and an Air Force veteran of both World War II and the recent Korean conflict, was appointed to the post late this summer as assistant to Head Coach Virg Yelkin. He will also serve as supervisor of intramural athletics for the University.

Pettit comes to the OU coaching staff after spending one year as head basketball coach and assistant football and track coach at Sydney High School in Sydney, Iowa. An Education major, he is currently working towards a Master of Science Degree in Education. He hopes to attain this goal next spring.

A dependable forward on the 1950-51 Indian cage squad, Pettit left the team in mid-season for a two-year period of active duty in the Air Force. Upon his return in the fall of 1952, he resumed his basketball career and proved a steady influence on the younger Indian players.

Pettit is married to another Omaha University graduate, the former Jean Duncan who received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Spanish in June of 1951. They have one son, six-month-old Steven, who is destined, according to his father, for a great athletic career.

Pettit has stated that he intends to devote a great deal of time in conducting a fast moving, well organized intramural program here this fall.

Yelkin Seeks Omaha Pro As Links Coach

Negotiations to obtain a new golf coach for the coming year have been underway the past few weeks, but as yet no tangible results have been achieved.

According to the University Athletic Department, Athletic Director Virgil Yelkin has been talking with a young Omaha professional, and favorable results are anticipated. No contract has been signed, however, to fill the position vacated after last season by John Campbell, another Omaha professional, who has left the state.

OUWI Announces New Fall Schedule For Women's Sports

University women interested in sports may join Omaha University Women's Intramurals next Wednesday through Friday. An enrollment table and display will be set up outside the library on second floor.

To be an active member of OUWI a co-ed must participate in two sports. Tentative dates for individual and team sports are:

Tennis—Sept. 27

Golf—Sept. 27

Volleyball—Oct. 19

Badminton—Nov. 15

Basketball—Febr. 7

Table Tennis—Mar. 21

Active membership in the Rifle Club or the Bowling teams may be substituted for any of the individual or team sports required for OUWI membership.

OUWI social activities include a Christmas party for underprivileged children, Dec. 9; High School Play Day, Apr. 23; Spring Banquet, May 9, and a sock dance following a basketball game.

OUWI executive council includes Helen Howell, president; Rita Dargajewski, vice-president; Carolyn Chapman, secretary-treasurer; Jo Palladino, publicity chairman and Mrs. Marjorie McLaren, faculty advisor.

Group representatives are Susie Beck, Shirley Barnum, Mary Ann Larsen, Mary Ann Leo, Barbara Scott and Kay Talty.

OU Grid Season Opens Tomorrow

Omaha Eleven Journeys To Fort Hays for Game

Coach Lloyd Cardwell's Omaha University gridmen will make their season debut tomorrow night in Fort Hays, Kansas, when they clash with Kansas Teachers College under the lights.

The Indians will be seeking a repeat of the 20-12 victory, gained last year over the Kansans in the OU stadium. Reportedly, the Kansans have all of their last year starting eleven returning, plus a number of ex-service men who may crack the starting line-up.

Men's Sports Get Fall Season Start

Bowling and flag football will be the first events on the men's intramural sports program this fall according to Ralph Pettit, newly appointed supervisor of intramural athletics.

The program is scheduled to get underway early in October. Other events being considered for early fall include a horseshoe tournament and a cross country race.

Pettit said a meeting of all intramural managers of the various campus organizations will be called about Sept. 27. A meeting of all interested unaffiliated students will be called for the same day to select intramural managers for the various districts. The exact time, place and date of each meeting will be published in the next issue of the Gateway.

Pettit pointed out that assignment of unaffiliated students to intramural teams depends solely on the areas in which they live. He also urges anyone interested in serving as an intramural manager to contact him as soon as possible.

on the old tennis court site may eliminate tennis competition. Recreation sports to replace tennis are archery, shuffle board, deck tennis, horse shoes and aerial darts. Individual sports are golf, badminton and swimming.

Cardwell's charges will again be operating from the single wing attack that has served well in previous years. In the starting backfield, Bill Engelhardt, running from the tailback position, will call the plays. Bill Steck will fill the fullback slot with Jerry Tannahill as wingback and Arno Smith, blocking back.

Fort Hays fans will be eyeing Steck, Engelhardt and Tannahill with respect this year, remembering that one of OU's touchdowns last year resulted from long runs by Steck and Engelhardt while the third came on an Engelhardt-Tannahill pass combination.

Center Main Worry

Harry Johnson, injury-plagued center, will attempt to alleviate Cardie's main worry, that of a weak center position. Johnson will probably be flanked by Simon A. Simon and Frank Hahn at guards, Ed Baker and Elwood Mink at tackles, and Captain Rudy Rotella and Dick Cotton anchoring the line from their end positions.

Coach Cardwell started practice sessions this season on Aug. 30 with thirty candidates and sixteen lettermen checking out equipment. The loss of center Jerry Lawson to the draft and of the other center, Bill Timmins, by way of ineligibility, left a readily apparent weakness at the snap back position.

The conversion of Johnson, who lettered at tackle last year, to center was made a short time ago, according to Cardwell. Johnson has responded nicely.

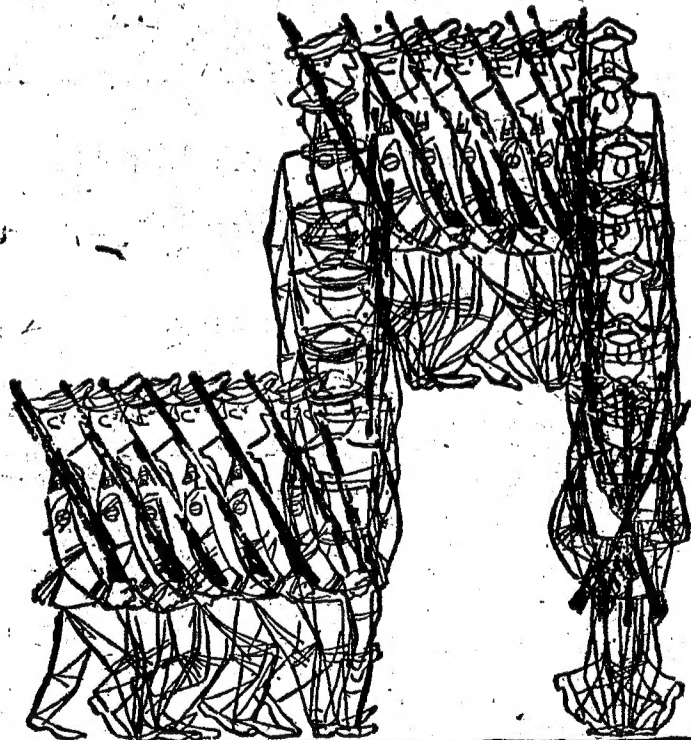

As added depth in the backfield, the Indians have Emil Radik and Pete Rigatuso ready for duty. Both of these men add weight and speed to the backfield.

Blood Means Life

Yours Is Needed

If medical requirements for whole blood are to be met during the coming year, one out of every 20 people in the nation will be needed as a blood donor. The use of blood and blood fractions in medical practice will continue to grow as new discoveries are made. Every healthy man or woman can safely donate blood five times a year. Giving blood is safe and easy. Receiving blood means life to thousands each year. Make it a habit to donate blood regularly — give the ill and injured an extra chance for life.

Sororities Pledge Sixty-Three Girls

Co-eds invaded Omaha University a week early this year because, for the first time in the school's history, sorority rushing was held on the OU campus. A total of 20 parties and five teas, in four days, resulted in 63 women pledging social sororities.

Alpha Xi Delta

Alpha Xi Delta's formal pledging was held in the Ballroom of the Blackstone Hotel Monday evening. Those pledged include Pat Burns, Jean Carter, Sandra Cheyne, Judy Kruse and Harriet Myers.

Others are Marilyn Nelson, Shirley Palladino, Diane Rasmussen and Janet Winslow.

Pledges and actives also attended a get-acquainted picnic Sunday evening.

Chi Omega

Girls pledged to Chi Omega sorority attended a banquet in the Ballroom of the Blackstone Tuesday evening. A family picnic for all actives, pledges and their families will be from 6 to 9 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 29, in Benson Park.

Others include Gail Johnson, Carole Kratky, Dorothy Lane, Lois Lemon, Jeanne Lucht, Jo Ann Manger, Ann McMahon and Jill Moredick.

Sue Moss, Pat Peebles, Susan Rowe, Ardith Sampson, Diane Scherzberg, Jeanne Vogt and Joyce Wright complete the list.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Zeta Tau Alpha pledged 13 co-eds Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Alexander, ZTA sponsor. A potluck supper was held Monday evening at Camp Brewster and the pledge banquet will be at 6:30 p. m. in the Blackstone Hotel Sunday evening.

Zeta pledges are Shala Andrews, Shirley Andrews, Joanne Bevelheimer, Betty Egbert, Beverly Beach, Janell Fiala and Joan

Hamilton.

Others are Gayle Martin, Shirley Pazlar, Elaine Reznicek, Rhea Sandberg, Carol Zentner and Nancy York.

Sigma Kappa

Newly pledged members of Sigma Kappa sorority are Pat Barton, Barbara Beach, Donna Bridgewater, Elizabeth Bruno, Pat Buell, Janet Decker, Joan Derham and Cleo Hammernick.

Pledging of these girls took place in the House and Gardens Room of the Blackstone Hotel Monday evening. A pledge picnic was also held Sunday evening at Elmwood Park.

Ask Cooperation On Campus Rules

"Early conformity to University traffic rules will save later regrets," Dean of Students Jay B. MacGregor urges that student cooperation to all campus standards, particularly parking rules, will be a good start for the 1954-55 school year.

"The Fieldhouse parking lot," said Dean MacGregor, "is in extra good condition. And you would collect a bonus as you walk back across the campus with the grand view of our rapidly proceeding library."

Further information on campus rules may be obtained by calling 272.

Bermuda Shirts New Favorite With Fashionable OU Co-eds

No, that's not a little boy you see walking around campus, nor is it an especially small freshman male, it's one of OU's fashionable co-eds in her Bermuda shorts.

This item of sportswear, usually associated with the summer season, has been adapted to fall and winter wear and is fast becoming the season's most popular item for casual wear.

Plaid or Plain

Bermuda shorts can be purchased in a variety of fabrics and colors to suit every taste. Right in keeping with the rest of the fashion picture, either very bright or muted shades, the most popular shorts come in perky plaid, charcoal brown or grey. Most popular fabrics are flannels, tweeds, and corduroy.

coal brown or grey. Most popular fabrics are flannels, tweeds, and corduroy.

Boy Blouse Still Here

To finish off the casual appearance lent by Bermuda shorts they are topped by last season's favorite, the little boy blouse. New, but gaining ground by the minute, are the heavy knee length socks worn below the shorts and above the ever popular loafers. Other accessories which add to the Bermuda short costume are jerkins, to contrast or match, and wide or thin leather belts.

Co-eds on the University of Illinois campus have already started to wear their shorts to class. Any-one game?

Freshmen Mixer To Be Sept. 29 in Auditorium

Freshmen will have a chance to drop their books and kick up their heels Wednesday, at the Freshman Mixer from 3 to 5 p. m. Sept. 29 in the Auditorium.

The annual dance, sponsored by the Student Council, is open to the entire school and will offer a chance for both old and new students to become acquainted.

Cheer Tryout Set This Week

The cry is out for new cheerleaders . . . four women and two men. Elimination tryouts will be held in the Women's P. E. Hut at 4:30 p. m. this Wednesday.

"All university students are qualified to try out," said Jo Ann Doyle, Inter-Pep Council secretary. Judging will be done on the basis of pep, enthusiasm, cheering form, and yelling ability. Judges will include Jo Ann Doyle and Darlene Buckingham from Feathers, Darrell Githens and Al Fellman of Warriors, cheerleader Jean Harrington, and two members of the marching band.

New cheering uniforms are ordered and should be ready for the first home game October 2. White pleated skirts and white sweaters with "O" and "Ouampi" emblems will be featured. New reversible jackets of red wool with an OU letter and white satin with an OU Indian emblem will complete the uniforms.

Alumni Fund Drive Exceeds 1953 Total

The second annual Alumni Association Fund Drive netted $3,004, according to Tom Townsend, Alumni Secretary.

The fund is divided into three parts: the library gift fund for a furnishing for the new library, $1,375; the Daniel E. Jenkins Memorial Scholarship, $947, and Alumni Activities, $681.

The 530 contributors represent 19 states, the District of Columbia and service men in Japan, Germany and Korea. Organizations contributing include Class of 1954, $50, and alumni of Alpha Sigma Lambda, a local fraternity from 1919 to 1951, $250.

The 1953 drive netted $1,727.50.

Registration for fraternity rushing ends today and rushing formally gets underway tonight with the smoker being held in the Faculty Clubroom from 7 to 10 p. m.

Schedule for parties beginning at 7 p. m., is as follows:

Lambda Chi Alpha has parties scheduled for Monday and Tuesday at Benson park and Wednesday at Fontenelle park.

Phi Beta Chi's parties will be at Miller and Hanscom parks Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Pi Kappa Alpha parties will be at Riverview park Monday and Thursday and at Benson park Friday.

Sigma Phi Epsilon will hold their parties at Dewey park Monday and Tuesday and at Elmwood park Friday.

Theta Chi parties will be at the Italian-American Home Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Wool Goes Formal

If your social program looms larger than your budget, plan to sew your own this Fall.

Take a tip from the leading designers who are featuring wool dinner and cocktail dresses—and are they expensive!

One designer uses red plaid for a street length formal dress with coat in matching red. Another trims tweed with satin and sequins. Deep scoop necks are popular and sleeveless cocktail dresses usually have brief cover-up jackets.

You'll help your budget too, if you follow the lead of many designers to use Sanforlan wools in all types of garments. Fabrics that carry this label of washability make up into garments that wash safely without shrinking out of fit, without matting or felting.

With an X?

"Well, John. I hear you're courting a school teacher."

"Mm."

"How's progress?"

"She marked fourteen errors in my last letter."

Centennial Theme For Faculty Dinner

Omaha's Centennial served as the theme for decorations at the annual faculty dinner last Friday at Omaha university.

Faculty members, their wives and husbands and Board of Regents' members were entertained by Dr. Milo Ball.

Small, informal groups of people moved from room to room at times designated on tickets in centennial books presented to them. They were served hors d'oeuvres, salad and punch.

The Centennial theme was carried out in the table arrangements of the chuckwagon dinner served in the auditorium. A wagon wheel arrangement was used, with eight rows of tables forming the spokes of the wheel. The hub was a mound of brightly colored flowers.

Mrs. Thelma Engle, University hostess, was in charge of decorations.
